Hans-Inge Langø

1720 E 32nd St
Austin, Texas 78722
(512) 993-4692
hans.lango@utexas.edu
hansingelangoe.com

EDUCATION

PhD Candidate in Department of Government — September 2015 - Present
University of Texas at Austin, Austin, TX
- International Relations and Methodology.

PhD student at LBJ School of Public Affairs — September 2013 - May 2015
University of Texas at Austin, Austin, TX

Master of Arts in International Relations — September 2008 - January 2010
Boston University, Boston, MA

Bachelor of Arts in Journalism — August 2004 - June 2008
Oslo University College, Oslo, Norway

WORKING PAPERS

"Intervention, War Expansion, and the International Sources of Civil war."

"Conformity or Conflict: International Sources of Civil War Onset."

"Mutually Assured Vulnerability: An Ecological Approach to the Study of Coercion and Power in Cyberspace."

PUBLICATIONS (NOT PEER-REVIEWED)

"Competing academic approaches to cyber security." In Conflict in Cyber Space, edited by Karsten Friis and Jens Ringsmose. London: Routledge, 2016.

"Den Akademiske Debatten Om Cybersikkerhet." Internasjonal Politikk 71, no. 2 (May 2013): 229240.

"Slaying Cyber Dragons: Competing Academic Approaches to Cyber Security." Working paper. NUPI, June 2013.

"The Limits of Compulsory Cyber Power: Assessing Ecological Potential and Restraints in the Digital Domain." Working paper. Norsk Utenrikspolitisk Institutt (NUPI), June 2013.

CONFERENCES

"Intervention, Retaliation, and the International Sources of Civil war," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in San Francisco, April 2018.

"Conformity or Conflict: International Sources of Civil War Onset," presented at the annual Texas Triangle Conference in College Station, February 2018.

"Mutually Assured Vulnerability: An Ecological Approach to the Study of Coercion and Power in Cyberspace," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in Baltimore, February 2017.

"Intervention, Retaliation, and the International Sources of Civil war," presented at the annual Texas Triangle Conference in Dallas, January 2017.

"Preying on the Weak and Free: Why Third-Party Interventions in Civil Wars Go Unpunished," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in Atlanta, March 2016.

"Distance Makes the Heart Grow Fonder: Why States Choose to Intervene in Civil Wars," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in Atlanta, March 2016.

"War in limbo: Thresholds for escalation in third-party conflicts," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in New Orleans, February 2015.

"Conflict in a Privatized Domain: Assessing Situational Awareness and Decision-Making in Cyberspace," presented at the International Studies Association's annual conference in Toronto, March 2014.

GRANTS AND HONORS

Bruton Fellowship	2018/2019
Nominated for University Graduate Continuing Fellowship	2018/2019
Department of Government Continuing Fellowship	2018/2019
Macdonald Fellowship	2017/2018
Institute for Humane Studies PhD Scholarship	2017/2018
American-Scandinavian Foundation's Fellowship	2017/2018
Charles Koch Foundation Dissertation Grant	Summer 2017
Clements Center Graduate Fellow	September 2013 - Present
Macdonald Fellowship	2016/2017
Summer Pre-Dissertation Fellowship	Summer 2016
Macdonald Fellowship	2015/2016
Clements Center Research Grants	Spring 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017
Lyndon B. Johnson School Graduate Fellowship	September 2013 - May 2014

EXPERIENCE

Assistant Instructor (instructor of record) 2017/2018
University of Texas at Austin, Austin, TX

- Two-course sequence on social science research.
- Lectured on social science methods, mentored individual student projects on wide range of topics, and led team of students for coding project.
- Two students accepted to MPSA undergraduate poster session.
- Course evaluations:
  - Spring: 4.3/5 for instructor; 4.4/5 for course.
  - Fall: 4.3/5 for instructor; 4.2/5 for course.

Teaching Assistant September 2015 - July 2017
University of Texas at Austin, Austin, TX

- Politics of New Democracies with Prof. Goodnow.
- Causes of War with Prof. Scott Wolford.
  - Guest-lectured on the Chinese Civil War and how civil wars end.
- Texas Political History with Prof. James Enelow.
- American Government with Prof. David Leal.
  - Guest-lectured on the American presidency, economic policy, and foreign and defense policy.
- Global Governance with Prof. Terrence Chapman.

Research Assistant September 2014 - May 2015
Robert S. Strauss Center, Austin, TX

- Assisted Prof. Eugene Gholz with research on trade, conflict, and oil.
- Assisted other Strauss scholars with various research tasks.

Junior Research Fellow/Research Assistant March 2011 - July 2013
Norwegian Institute of International Affairs (NUPI), Oslo, Norway

- Lead analyst on NUPIs contribution to the cyberspace part of MNE7, a multinational military concept development project.
- Part of MNE7 team that developed and conducted a limited objective experiment to assess situational awareness and information sharing during a cyber security crisis.
- Conducted theoretical studies on the strategic utility of cyberspace with a particular focus on coercion.

Research Intern January 2010 - December 2010
Cato Institute, Hudson Institute, Stimson Center, Washington, D.C.

- Provided research and analysis on various initiatives and projects.
- Contributed analysis on weapons programs and defense spending for the Bipartisan Policy Center's Debt Reduction Task Force and the Sustainable Defense Task Force.

Journalist April 2005 - August 2008
VG Nett, Nettavisen, Dagens Næringsliv, Oslo, Norway

- Reporter covering various issues, including crime, politics, and business.

SKILLS

Computer skills: Proficient working in Stata, Mathematica, LaTeX, MS Word, MS Excel. Basic knowledge of R.

Methods training: Econometrics, formal modeling, causal inference, and archival research.

Language: Native language is Norwegian. Fluent in English, Swedish, and Danish. Basic knowledge of French.

REFERENCES

Professor Scott Wolford (advisor): swolford@austin.utexas.edu and 512-232-7210.

Professor Mike Findley: mikefindley@utexas.edu and 512-232-7208.